

U. S. Sounds Out Groups to End Crisis

By WILLIAM N. OATI S.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States is quietly sounding out U.N. delegations on a sweeping program to end the Congo crisis, informed sources said today.

While not yet firm policy, informants said, the U.S. plan includes 1. Freeing the Congo from big-power interference, 2. Forming a government with broader support than that held by President Joseph Kasavubu, 3. Disarming all Congolese troops, 4. Re-convene parliament, 5. Releasing all political prisoners.

Chief U.S. delegate Adlai Stevenson would have to win the Soviet Union's agreement to stay out of the Congo's affairs. The dis- armament proposal would need U.N. backing.

The rest of the program would depend upon the bitterly feuding Congolese politicians themselves. Stevenson seems to put high priority on exclusion of big-power interference and low priority on freeing political prisoners, the informants said.

Stevenson probably will take all the ideas with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin with the suggestion they become the U.N. program for the Congo, the informants said.

But the new U. S. administration's Congo policy apparently still is under study in Washington, they said, and Stevenson probably is just trying out the ideas on his colleagues.

Diplomatic sources said Stevenson seems to feel that if such a program received broad support from the Security Council, Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld could go ahead with it even though no formal resolution was adopted.

Union Wants Say in Plant Locations

DETROIT (AP) — A United Auto Workers spokesman said Thursday night the big union may seek to limit the automakers' right to locate their plants.

Kenneth Bannan, director of the UAW's Ford department, voiced the threat in a debate on automation with Malcolm L. Denise, vice president for labor relations at Ford Motor Co.

The UAW contract with the Big Three automakers, Ford, General Motors and Chrysler, runs out this summer.

The debate took place before an overflow audience of Detroit industry and union leaders.

Bannan cited industry rumors that Ford is going to build two new cars, one smaller than the current compact Falcon and one larger.

"The new cars ought to be built right here in Detroit," Bannan said. "We have a lot of workers affected by automation. Why not help them?"

"If Ford does not want to live up to its moral obligation, our people at the company say that, come the 1961 negotiations, we should put some teeth in the new contract on management's right to locate plants."

Denise did not respond. Michigan has been hard hit by plants relocating elsewhere and lack of new industry in the state.

Cuban Envoy in Tokyo Missing

TOKYO (AP) — Kyodo News Agency today reported that an official of Cuba's Tokyo embassy has been missing since last November.

Kyodo said he is commercial attache Policiano Padron, last seen in Tokyo Nov. 7 when he boarded a Northwest Airlines plane for Seattle.

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—Rollin H. Carter, 77, retired state manager of Northwestern National Life Insurance Co., died in a hospital here today.

He had lived in Conway for a number of years. Survivors include his widow, four daughters, two brothers and two sisters. Funeral services will be Saturday morning, with burial in Magnolia.

Increasing cloudiness and cold today; chance of rain in the southwest and snow in the northwest this afternoon with rain prevailing over the state tonight.

Blossoming of the Confederate States

FESTIVITIES greeted the announcement in Montgomery, Ala., on Feb. 8, 1861, that delegates of six Southern states had reported a temporary constitution for the provisional Government of the Confederate States of America. Following the lead of South Carolina, which seceded Dec. 20, 1860, Mississippi, Florida, Alabama, Georgia and Louisiana, in January, had approved ordinances and legislation declaring themselves separate from the Union. Texas seceded Feb. 1. Representatives from the first six states convened in Montgomery on Feb. 4 to form a separate government. At the time, Harper's Weekly, which published the above drawing of Montgomery, said: "We may consider this (War for the Union) to have fairly begun on the 8th of February, 1861, when the Southern Confederacy was formally inaugurated."

Evacuation Carried Out by Church

LA CROSSE, Wis. (AP) — A disaster evacuation plan set up by Lutheran Hospital authorities worked smoothly and efficiently Thursday night and about 100 patients were evacuated safely when fire swept through an old wing of the institution.

All of the patients, many bed-ridden, were evacuated to other wings of the hospital by nurses, doctors and attendants within 10 minutes after the fire was discovered. The flames destroyed the old five-story structure but were stopped from spreading to the front section and two other wings of the hospital.

"We have practiced constantly for evacuation of any wing of our hospital in the event of an emergency," said L. R. Widmeyer, assistant hospital administrator. "When the fire broke out our disaster evacuation plan worked beautifully. We didn't have an injury or loss of life."

Some of the patients were wheeled out in their beds. Others were carried out and a few were able to walk to safety.

About two hours after the fire started firemen had it under control.

Hospital authorities said that the new two wings cost about $1 million each to construct and that it probably would cost that much to replace the fire-swept wing.

One Dies, Three Hurt in Wreck

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Charles Bryans, 22, of Gosnell, was killed and three persons were injured Thursday when the truck in which he was riding collided with a car driven by Billy Meharg of Blytheville.

Meharg and the truck driver, W. M. Katzenberger, 19, were critically injured. They were taken to a Memphis hospital.

The wreck occurred on U. S. Highway 61, one mile south of the Arkansas-Missouri state line in Mississippi County.

Horace Walpole, 61, a passenger in Meharg's car, suffered a fractured leg and was taken to a Blytheville hospital.

State Trooper Raymond Bishop of Osceola said Katzenberger apparently tried to pass another car and collided with Meharg's car.

Penalty for Rail Abandonment

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Senate today passed 20-13 a House bill which would levy a tax for removal of the Arkansas and Ozarks Railroad in northwest Arkansas.

The bill is couched in general terms but sponsors said it was intended to impose the tax on A&O.

Program Changed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. W. F. Norrell, D-Ark., said Army Engineers have informed him that a recently announced change in administration of the Arkansas River development program will involve only the navigation feature of the program. There will be no change in responsibility for flood control projects.

May Clamp Down on Duty Free Goods

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges said today a cut probably should be made in the $500 worth of goods Americans can bring home duty free from trips abroad.

He gave his views in response to a question at a Senate Commerce Committee hearing on a bill to set up a $5-million-a-year program to attract more foreign visitors to this country.

The measure would establish an office of international travel in Hodges' department.

A cut in the amount of goods U.S. tourists could bring home duty free would help to cut the nation's adverse balance of international payments and thus the drain on gold reserves.

State Rests in Jones' Murder Trial

BOSTON, Tex. (AP)—The state rested its case in the Curtis Lee Jones trial Thursday after presenting Jones' signed statement that he had shot Doyle Jackson three times.

Jones, 38, is charged with murder in the death of Jackson, near Texarkana, Tex., last October.

He had a brief moment of freedom Wednesday night when he broke away from a deputy leading him to a night session of his trial. Four shots fired into the air stopped the former Arkansas convict.

The state said Jones made the statement to the then sheriff of Bowie County, W. J. Watlington, and Texas Ranger R. M. Arnold shortly after his arrest last November. Joseph Charles Verner of Dallas, who testified next, told of being kidnapped, bound and left on the outskirts of Fort Worth by Jones.

Rabies Outbreak in Missouri

POCAHONTAS, Ark. (AP) — A rabies outbreak has brought a quarantine on all dogs in eight townships of Ripley County, Mo., just north of here.

The County Court Thursday ordered all dogs to be immunized against rabies, impounded or killed. The court's action was prompted by an outbreak of rabies among dogs, wild animals and livestock. It covers Pine, Kelly, Shirley, Galewood, Union, Poyner, West Doniphan and Current River Townships.

Bruce Mays health officer for Randolph County, Ark., which adjoins Ripley County, said several rabies cases have been reported in this part of Arkansas. At least one person has had to take a series of rabies preventative shots because of a fox bite.

Extension Class to Be Formed

An organizational meeting of an extension class will be held at Hope High School at 7 p.m. Monday. The class is in cooperation with Henderson State Teachers College. Just what will be offered depends on the demand. All interested persons are urged to attend.

Wants Those Overseas to Cut Expenses

WASHINGTON (A) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says he expects every man, woman and child in overseas service families to save $80 a year to cut down on the drain of U.S. dollars.

McNamara met Pentagon reporters for the first time Thursday.

He said his aim is to save as much dollar expenditure abroad as would have been saved by the controversial order of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower to cut the number of military dependents living abroad.

President Kennedy reversed that order this week.

McNamara said the voluntary savings program is expected to trim $80 million from what servicemen and their families spend abroad this year. By 1962 and 1963 he estimated the saving should run to $200 million. This is the sum Eisenhower hoped to save by having the families returned home.

McNamara also said regulations might be put into effect to make it more difficult for overseas servicemen to buy durable foreign goods, such as cars. One way to do this, he said, would be to require purchasers of cars to ship them home at their expense. The Army pays the transportation now.

McNamara made these other announcements:

1. He has no immediate plan for a major reorganization of the Defense Department.
2. He has no present plans to redeploy U.S. forces abroad.
3. The Department will buy 53 more big transport planes, including 30 jets, to beef up the military's airlift capacity.

Department Store Sales Are Down

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis reported today that department store sales in the Eighth Federal Reserve District the week ended Jan. 28 were seven per cent below those of the corresponding week of 1960.

The biggest decrease was in Louisville, 22 per cent. The smallest was at St. Louis, one per cent. Little Rock was down 20 per cent. Memphis 10 and sales in seven smaller district cities fell eight per cent.

The average for the four weeks ended Jan. 28 was six per cent under that of the similar period of last year.

14 Hurt as Bus Skids Off Road

ZION, Ill. (AP)—Fourteen persons were injured today when a Greyhound bus bound from Milwaukee to Chicago skidded on snow-slicked pavement and rammed an abutment at a Tri-State Tollway collection plaza.

State police took victims to the Zion hospital where the most severe injury apparently was a leg fracture.

The accident occurred near the tollway interchange with Illinois 173 west of Zion and northwest of Waukegan.

Galvao Takes Up Asylum In Brazil

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

RECIFE, Brazil (AP) — Capt. Henrique Galvao took up asylum here today after ending his sea-borne revolution with surrender of the cruise ship he seized 13 days ago. But the swashbuckling rebel vowed to continue his fight against Portugal's strongman Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar.

Galvao went on the air shortly after setting foot on Brazilian soil and told a radio-TV audience that seizure of the 610-foot Santa Maria with 600 captive passengers and 368 crewmen was only the beginning of his campaign to oust the Salazar regime.

Later he told newsmen he still claimed rights to the Santa Maria. "We accepted asylum without renouncing our rights to the ship," he declared.

The statement appeared to carry little meaning, however. After Galvao yielded the Santa Maria to Brazil, President Junio Quadros quickly handed the vessel over to the Portuguese government. Portuguese diplomats were expected to take charge of the $16.6 million vessel on behalf of her Portuguese owners, the Colopago Navigation Co.

In turning the ship directly over to Portugal, Quadros avoided any jurisdictional dispute between the Brazilian navy and the vessel's owners.

The ship's owners, meanwhile, sought to haul Galvao into court. They directed the liner's regular captain, Mario Simoes Maia, to file a complaint in a Brazilian court charging Galvao with homicide, robbery, depriving passengers of their liberty and damage.

The third officer of the Santa Maria was slain when the rebels seized the vessel in the Caribbean Jan. 22.

The Brazilian court must decide whether to accept the complaint.

The 40-old Americans stranded here after 12 days of captivity aboard the Santa Maria broke into cheers when they heard that Galvao had surrendered the ship. That meant they could get their baggage off and make plans to go home.

While the Americans rested at the homes of U.S. residents in Recife, the ship owners were authorized by Lisbon headquarters to pay them ship or plane fare to Florida. That was the Americans' destination before the liner was commandeered.

The rebel chief, 65, had little choice but to yield up the Santa Maria—with fewer than 30 supporters aboard the deserted ship, fuel and water almost gone and with Portuguese warships keeping vigil in the Atlantic should he try to make a run for it.

Bruce Named Ambassador to Britain

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — David K. E. Bruce, who was in the running for the job of secretary of state, has been named ambassador to Britain.

Bruce, 63, is tall, lean and quiet-spoken. He has long experience as a diplomat; wealth from an earlier business career; and politics runs in his blood.

Bruce is the son of William Cabell Bruce, onetime U.S. senator from Maryland. He has served as U.S. ambassador in two other important capitals of Europe, Paris and Bonn, West Germany.

He has held high posts under Democrat Harry S. Truman and Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower. In 1956 he contributed $1,000 to the Democratic campaign and then was nominated by Eisenhower as ambassador to West Germany.

Bruce was named undersecretary of state to Secretary Dean Acheson in 1952, an office that was ambassador to France.

Bruce is Kennedy's first appointment of an ambassador to an individual country. He was one of the three top candidates for the job of secretary of state; Kennedy finally chose Dean Rusk.

The Court of St. James is one of the ambassadorships that costs the incumbent more than he earns in salary and expense allowances. Others have been said to spend as much as $100,000 a year of their own money while holding it. The last ambassador there was millionaire John Hay Whitney.

Old Barlow House on Division Street Is Being Torn Down — It Has Quite a History

By MARY ANITA LASETER

Hope Star Feature Writer

Something besides a house is being torn down in the 300 block of West Division Street. The Urrey Boarding House, which is still referred to as "the old Barlow home," is the structure being demolished, and with it goes memories, tradition and history.

About 75 years ago on Christmas Eve the Barlow family moved to our town. They had purchased the McGee Hotel, located where the railroad "Y" is now behind the Barlow Hotel. This building was later moved down the street and is the one now being demolished.

Mr. and Mrs. Moses Harry Barlow came to Hope from Pennsylvania after a trip from their home in England. Six children came with them — John (deceased), Harry, Elizabeth (Mrs. Elizabeth Pritchard), Arthur (deceased) and two half sisters. Among their children born in Hope was Jessie Bell (Mrs. Frank Hawson).

Probably nothing was more startling about the 25 room building than the installation of the first bath tub in Hope. It was a zink lined wooden tub and was the ultimate in modern conveniences. Originally purchased for Mr. Barlow, it was, of course, used by patrons of the hotel. Some young men in town also came on Saturday night for a bath at a cost of "two bits a bath."

When N. R. Whitten began tearing down the old house, he wasn't surprised to find without baseboards in many rooms. Neither was it unusual to discover dovetail beams or that wooden pegs and square iron nails had been used in the construction of the building. The fact that the huge colonial columns at the front of the house were made of hard pine from Arkansas explained their durability.

Then, he was surprised, for he found a leather shoe with a wooden sole and wooden heel, both banded with strips of steel. He had never seen anything quite like it. Later, it was learned that Mrs. Howson had the male to the shoe which had belonged to her father, M. H. Barlow. For many years one shoe had been lost, but in "turning the house upside down" literally, it had been discovered.

Memories? Of course, there are a multitude of them for those who lived in or visited the house. Family and friends often gathered around the fireplace that was so large a railroad crosstie could be laid across the mantels. Episcopal Church parties and bazaars were held in the house as it was so large and could accommodate so many people.

The most joyous time at the Barlow home was Christmas, for it was a time for "kith and kin" to gather. Sometimes as many as 30 would be present before, during and after a meal. The Christmas tree always reached to the ceiling and was lighted by a host of candles.

An era is passing away, for at the time "the Barlow home" was torn down, it was the oldest two-story home in our town. To say that tradition and history are both being lost with the destruction of this building, however, is false.

Happy memories will keep them alive.

$50,000 in Gems Taken in Burglary

FORT SMITH (AP) — Police Chief Herbert Brock said someone with a door key and a safe combination burglarized the Newton Jewelry Store Wednesday night of $50,000 in gems and watches.

Brock said the door apparently was opened with a key, a vault was opened by its combination, and the burglar alarm was disconnected.

William Newton 35, owner of the store, who was in Tulsa, Okla., at the time of the burglary, said only part of the loss was covered by insurance.

Newton said the store was robbed several years ago of $35,000 in uninsured diamonds.

Wreck Kills One Near Batesville

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP)—One man was killed and another injured Thursday night when an automobile failed to negotiate a curve on Highway 167, about three miles south of here.

Dead on arrival at a Batesville hospital was Thomas P. Long, 46, of Salado, two miles southeast of Batesville.

Won't Allow Disarming of Congo Army

By PATRICK MASSEY

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Gen. Joseph Mobutu said today Dag Hammarskjöld's plan to reorganize the Congolese army and keep it out of politics really means disarming the force and "we will never allow it."

"The United Nations is playing with fire," Mobutu told a news conference. "To disarm the ANC (National Congolese Army) would mean war."

The conference was called to reply to the U.N. secretary-general's Security Council speech suggesting that the Congolese army be reorganized.

Mobutu insisted the Congolese army must stay under the control of President Joseph Kasavubu.

"All the ANC needs is money to buy planes for its paratroopers and arms for its soldiers," Mobutu said.

He complained the United Nations is "playing the game of the Asiatic countries who want to disarm Congolese troops and liberate deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba."

Mobutu blamed the arms shortage on Belgian paratroopers who had destroyed arms stocks and on the fact that the Congo is barred by U.N. resolutions from accepting unilateral military aid.

Plowing Good Way to Kill Insects

One of the most efficient insect controls is the plow, says Calvin Caldwell, county agent. Plowing under vegetative growth at least three weeks prior to planting is valuable in insect control. It may be just as important in growing a crop as cultivating after the crop is up. The longer grass and weeds are turned under before planting, the better insect control will be.

Infestations of such insects as southern corn rootworm, rough-headed cornstalk beetle, cutworms and the lesser cornstalk borer breed in various weeds. The seed corn maggot which attacks seed before the plants emerge from the soil breeds on undecayed organic matter in the soil.

The southern corn rootworm and the rough headed cornstalk beetle breed in grass. Cutworms and the lesser cornstalk borer breed in various weeds. The seed corn maggot which attacks seed before the plants emerge from the soil breeds on undecayed organic matter in the soil.

Where grass and weeds are plowed under just before planting there may be a horde of these half starved insects waiting to feed on the emerging crop.

Early plowing allows organic matter to be fully decomposed when the crop is planted. This makes attack by seed corn maggot less likely. The other insects that are present are left without food or cover. They will either starve or be destroyed by natural enemies or cold weather.

Plowing under must be complete. If vegetation is left sticking up between furrow slices, benefits will not be obtained. Cultivation must also follow plowing to keep down vegetation prior to planting.

This method of insect control is much more economical than trying to control with insecticides later on.

Woman Fighting Extradition

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Attorneys asked the Louisiana Supreme Court Thursday to dismiss a district court order directing the extradition of Mrs. Norma MacDonald to Mena, Ark., to face charges in the death of her former husband, E. B. MacDonald.

Attorney Sam Monk Zelden contended all papers in the extradition proceedings refer to Mrs. Norma MacDonald while the woman in question is now Norma Young.

Zelden said the woman had divorced MacDonald and has remarried. A St. Tammany Parish district judge ordered the extradition several days ago. The woman is being held in Covington, accused of slaying the 73-year-old MacDonald near Mena and dismembering his body.

Jobless Aid Bill Set For Early Debate

By EDMUND LEBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration starts a push Monday to enact antirecession legislation, starting with the bill expected to meet the least resistance.

This is a measure to extend benefits for jobless workers as much as 13 weeks.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg says he expects the measure to have clear sailing.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, will introduce Monday the extension bill plus a companion measure to make benefits available to the children of unemployed parents, as they now are to orphans and abandoned children. President Kennedy and Goldberg will send Congress supporting communications.

Mills said open hearings on the two bills are scheduled for Feb. 15, but may be held earlier.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said the Senate might start its hearings about the same time. The unemployment measure, as a tax bill, must originate in the House, but the Senate could get some preliminary out of the way and handle it quickly after favorable action in the House.

Goldberg predicted considerable bipartisan support for the unemployment extension—"It seems to me a number of Republicans, especially those from states which have a serious unemployment problem, are sure to be for it."

Maximum cost of the benefit extension, if all states choose to take part, is estimated at $50 million.

The federal government would advance the money to the states, which would repay it out of the proceeds of an increased payroll tax. This levy on employers would be stepped up by broadening the base on which it is assessed from $3,000 to $4,800 per employee. Administration calculations are that the increase would pay the states' indebtedness in five years.

Not Enough in Estate to Pay Debts

NEW YORK (AP)—Alfred N. Steele, late husband of actress Joan Crawford and president of the Pepsi-Cola Co. at his death, left a gross estate of $607,128 but actually was insolvent, an intermediate estate accounting his disclosed.

Surrogate Joseph A. Cox Thursday signed an order allowing Lillian Steele, who preceded Miss Crawford as Steele's wife, to examine the executors of the estate. The executors are Miss Crawford, George C. Textor and J. Lincoln Morris.

Steele died at the age of 57 on April 19, 1959.

The intermediate accounting of the executors showed that the principal asset in Steele's estate was $383,000 held in escrow by Pepsi-Cola because of a stockholder's suit. Under a Sept. 22, 1955, agreement Steele was granted stock options which, the stockholder's suit maintained, should be declared null and void as a "gift" wasting corporation assets.

There were these major claims against the estate:

A $93,500 tax claim by the federal government; a $21,000 tax claim by the state; $17,000 for administration fees; $21,750 by Lillian Steele, $16,150 by her son Alfred, and $97,534 which Miss Crawford said she loaned to Steele.

Said the government: "It is apparent that at the present time the executors do not have sufficient disbursements to pay in full the administration expenses and the priority claims. They clearly are unable at the present time to pay any nonpriority claims."

The executors said they had on hand a total of $95,000.

Jobless Plan Cost Is $1 Billion

BY NORMAN WALKER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of the emergency extra unemployment benefits proposed by President Kennedy could climb to $1 billion.

The total would depend on how high unemployment remains and on the number of states voluntarily subscribing to the plan once it may be authorized by Congress. But officials estimate the cost could reach $1 billion.

On Capitol Hill, the plan apparently was set for early consideration by the House. The measure was believed to have considerable bipartisan appeal, since a number of Republican House members represent districts where unemployment is critical. But some employer opposition was expected.

Money for the plan would come initially out of federal funds. It would be repaid later out of revenues realized from broadening from $3,000 to $4,000 the annual earnings base of workers on which employers pay payroll taxes to finance the system.

The plan, contemplated to last a year, would increase payment of regular weekly unemployment insurance benefits one-half again as long as their present maximum duration. Most states make such payments for a maximum of 26 weeks. The extra payments would extend for a maximum of 13 weeks.

Payments average about $34 a week. The amount would not be changed. Both amount and duration of benefits vary between the states.

Kennedy proposed that in the Economy and Gold Worries Treasury

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—A slumping economy and a worrisome gold problem were the factors weighing most heavily with Treasury officials who planned the Kennedy administration's first big financing operation.

The department announced Thursday that it will offer, on Monday, $6.9 billion of 18-month notes paying 3 1/4 per cent interest. The proceeds will be used to pay off a like amount of Treasury securities which mature Feb. 15.

In designing the terms, Undersecretary Robert V. Roosa and his colleagues wanted, in addition to raising the needed cash, to:

1. Make certain that the government had enough cash on hand at a time when the recession is hurting tax revenues.

2. Encourage American corporations to put money into the new notes, instead of seeking higher interest rates in Europe. A heavy flow of capital to Europe already has given Europeans millions of extra dollars which, in many cases, they have used to buy American gold.

3. Cooperate with President Kennedy's program, announced Thursday in a special message to Congress, to encourage lower long term interest rates. The President believes reductions here would help stimulate the economy.

Normally the Treasury refinances maturing securities by offering new ones in exchange. Owners of the issues coming due may demand a cash payoff or accept the exchange offer.

By side-stepping an exchange in this case, the department took no chances with a big demand for cash. Since revenues are in a slump, a large cash payoff might have necessitated an emergency borrowing later to replenish the few states paying regular benefits for more than 26 weeks—there are nine such states—the government would take over the cost of benefits after 26 weeks, up to a maximum of 39 weeks, thus freeing state funds for increases in benefit amounts.

The program closely parallels one put into effect during former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's administration. Only 17 states participated, but an additional 5 states put on their own augmenting programs out of their own funds.

DOROTHY DIX
Boy Who Knew What He Wanted Resented By Others Who Didn't

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen:
I've always been a boy who goes whole hog on anything he gets interested in. In high school I conceived a passion for Indian lore. I talked Indians, read Indian lore books, wore Indian trinkets and expanded the 1-64th Troquois blood in me to three-eighths. Around school they thought me off my rocker. Things became worse when I did an Indian war dance at a school rally. The kids gave war-whoops and yelled "Hes Chief Running Bare."

As a result I retreated into a dream world, flunked at school and got sent to a psychiatrist. He drew me out of myself, advised me to start fresh at a new school. I am now considered a normal, well-balanced boy. But here's where my problem comes in. I joined the local youth center. Each time I found a girl whom I liked, she suddenly started avoiding me after the first date. Then a really decent girl told me why. That old Indian lore business was being dug up about me. I told her the facts and one of my teachers at the old school who happened to work at the Youth Center, backed me up. Still the kids give me the by-pass. What can I do? —J.S.

Dear J.S.: Be yourself. If you like Indian lore, stick to it and become an authority on the subject. These kids who plague you don't know what they want in life; hence their resentment. Anyone who has the courage to defect from the herd and do what he wants, especially if it be different, is first derided, then respected and finally—if successful—wildly acclaimed.

If those at the Youth Center want to by-pass you, by-pass them. More enduring friendships will develop naturally once you resume your studies of the American Indian. Write to the great authorities like Dr. Frederick J. Dockstader, head of the American Indian, Broadway and 155th St. New York, or Dr. Stanley Freed, head of the American Indian Department of the Museum of Natural History, Central Park West and 79th St., New York. Broaden your horizon by increasing your activities in this subject so close to your heart, and the day will come when the very kids who now deride you will boast that they once knew you!

Dear Helen:
I am writing this for a boy near and dear to me. He is 22 and very much in love with a girl 19. But he has a heart condition and the girl's parents oppose their marriage.

He has a good position and is a fine boy in every way. If her folks succeed in breaking up this love affair, it will crush his spirit and destroy something very beautiful: true love. Your advice will be appreciated. —J.R.

Dear J.R.: Parents should never make the mistake of leading their children's lives for them. If the girl loves the boy, advise her to marry him. Suppose he has a heart condition? It is the quality of spirit that counts. Are they looking for brawn and muscle or brains and character in a son-in-law? A weak heart is not necessarily fatal. Dwight Eisenhower is proof of that.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "Is There a Test for Love?"

Suggests Way to Fight Blackbirds

WALNUT RIDGE, Ark. (AP)—A tent with lights might be the weapon Arkansas farmers need in their war with blackbirds.

W. A. Anderson, the Agricultural Extension Service agent for Lawrence County, emphasized that it was only experimental, but that he thought it would be an effective means of controlling hordes of seed-eating blackbirds.

The new president is a member of the University of Arkansas Board of Trustees, Arkansas Plant Foods Corp. board, the board of the First National Bank of Walnut Ridge and chairman of the Lawrence County Board of Education.

Witnesses Heard in Kidnap Death

BALTIMORE (AP)—The government paraded eight witnesses to the stand Thursday in the kidnap trial of Melvin Davis Rees Jr., a Hyattsville, Md., musician charged in the deaths of the Carroll Jackson family in 1959.

One of the witnesses, William Flynn, owner of a Washington, D. C. music company, testified that Rees taught children music at his store the day before and the day after Jan. 11, the day the family disappeared from their Apple Grove, Va., home.

The beaten bodies of the mother and daughter were found in a shallow grave 125 miles north near Gambrills, Md., and the father and another child were found dead in another secluded spot near Frederickburg, Va.

Rees is being tried under a federal indictment accusing him of kidnapping Mrs. Mildred Jackson, 27, and her 5-year-old daughter, Susan. The charges carry a possible death penalty. Rees is under state charges of murder in the four deaths.

The trial was recessed until Monday.

Students Hurl Stones at Austrians

ROME (AP)—Thousands of students hurled rocks at police around the Austrian Embassy today in the second day of demonstrations stemming from Italy's dispute with Austria on the South Tyrol. Three students and 15 police were injured and 40 demonstrators were arrested.

The demonstrations protest any move to concede regional autonomy to the South Tyrol, ceded to Italy by Austria after World War I. Austria demands autonomy, saying the 250,000 German-speaking people of South Tyrol have not been given full political rights. Austria maintains self-rule was promised under an agreement signed in Paris in 1946. Talks between the two nations deadlocked last week.

The new student disturbances came as a parliamentary debate on the Tyrol issue opened.

Premier Amintore Fanfani and Foreign Minister Antonio Segni faced attacks from all sides, especially from Fascist and Monarchist who demanded firm opposition to Austria.

The Christian Democrats and the Communists—seldom in the same camp on any issue—both have proposed that all efforts be made to resume negotiations for a friendly settlement as recommended by the United Nations General Assembly.

In Vienna, Foreign Minister Bruno Kreisky said Austria will ask the United Nations to send an investigation commission to South Tyrol to help end the dispute if further talks with Italy fail to produce a solution.

CBS Plans to Revive Spy Show Feb. 15

NEW YORK (AP)—The Columbia Broadcasting System, which canceled the network telecast of "The Spy Next Door," says the show will be broadcast Feb. 15.

The program originally was set to be shown Feb. 1 on the "Armstrong Circle Theater." Last Sunday, without comment, CBS said it was canceling the show, which deals with Soviet spying in the United States.

Thursday CBS announced the new telecast date. The network said the cancellation decision came after a reading of the script last Saturday. However, said CBS, the producer was authorized to record the program.

On Wednesday night, the statement said, the program was screened and approved by five CBS vice presidents.

The network denied that cancellation of the show resulted from governmental pressure, saying: "CBS had no contact with anyone prior to its decision not to broadcast the program as scheduled except for contacts with the producer of the program and the sponsor's advertising agency, both of whom recognized that this decision was properly in the hands of CBS."

Education Sharing Bill Becomes Law

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus has signed into law a bill permitting two or more school districts to share educational facilities.

Another bill signed by Faubus forbids girls under 18 years of age to be in public taverns or dance halls unless accompanied by their parents or guardians.

WHAT EVER HAPPENED TO BABY JANE

By Henry Farrell

Copyright © 1960 by Henry Farrell Distributed by Newspaper Enterprise Ass.

BY HENRY FARRELL
THE STORY: Blanche Hudson has been trying unsuccessfully to summon help. Her sister Jane is unbalanced and Blanche fears that she may become violent. Blanche, a helpless cripple, is alone in her room while Jane has gone out. Blanche does not know where Jane has gone.

Chapter XII

"Exp. accountant - arranger, male, to join act in act for clubs, TV, Piano, violin, req. HO 6-1784."

Jane studied the corrected copy the girl had shoved across the counter to her. Then she looked back at the original she had composed herself.

Maybe she should have put her name in the ad after all. Baby Jane Hudson. She narrowed her eyes, seeing it in print as it once had been, and for a moment she felt a small thrill of excitement.

"Of course we can print your copy," the girl said, "if that's the way you really want it..."

Jane decided that the girl was very pleasant and that she liked her very much. To please her, she would do it her way. It was just possible that the girl was right; the replies would come from exactly the same people anyway; the object was to get in all the vital information with as few words as possible.

The girl drew the corrected copy back to her side of the desk. "I'm sure you'll get just as good results."

"Well," Jane said, "since you're a newspaperwoman, you probably know best."

The girl nodded, started to turn away and then turned back again. "I know I shouldn't, but—well—I've just got to know. In this ad—would you mind telling me—whose the star?"

Jane's smile broadened. She made a small, pointing gesture with her gloved hand. "Me," she said. "Maybe you're too young to remember, but I'm the original Baby Jane—Baby Jane Hudson."

The girl's lips parted. "Well," she said, with a look of blank perplexity, "well, for heaven's sake!" She glanced away, toward a co-worker who had just put in an appearance at the end of the counter.

"Yes," Jane nodded, "thank you. Thank you very much." Holding herself straight, she turned and left.

"For heavensake," the girl said, moving off to join her companion, "who in the world is Baby Jane Hudson?"

At the bottom step, Blanche leaned forward to rest her head against the cool, hard surface of the post. Her descent had been arduous and painful.

Leaning forward, she reached out quickly to the outer side of the balustrade and began to draw herself forward, moving her hands with great care from one support to the other.

Tears of exertion stung at her eyes, but through the blur, she could see the telephone niche coming steadily closer.

When she reached up into the niche, she discovered that the phone was just beyond her touch. But then, seeing the cord, she put her hand out to it and grasped it.

After only a moment's resistance, the instrument slid forward to the drink, teetered there briefly and then spilled forward and down, striking the carpeted floor with a muted clatter.

Then, pressing the receiver to her ear, she dialed and waited. There was a series of faint buzzing sounds, a click, and then a pleasant female voice: "Dr. Shelby's office. May I help you?"

"Miss Hilt? This is Blanche Hudson. Is—the doctor there? I've got to talk to him. It's—it's about Jane—my sister..."

Miss Hilt said, "I'll try to get him—if you'll just hold on..."

It seemed an eternity before the second click sounded, bringing the line back to life again.

"Miss Hudson? Miss Hilt says you're a little upset."

"Doctor Shelby..." Blanche paused. Her thoughts were still muddled and unclear. "It's Jane... she's... Doctor, I've got to see you right away. It's so important! Can you come out here to the house?"

"Well, yes," Dr. Shelby said, "I suppose so—if it's really that urgent. But—has there been some sort of accident?"

"No," Blanche broke in urgently, "no, you don't understand. It's—not physical. She'd never come down there—not voluntarily. And I'm helpless..."

"Then it's some sort of—emotional disturbance, is that it?" Blanche seized gratefully on the phrase. "Yes, yes, that's it."

"Is she violent?"

"Violent?" Blanche pressed a hand to her brow, still trying to clear her thoughts. The important thing, she told herself, was to get him here to the house before Jane returned and found her downstairs. It didn't matter what she said now. "Yes," she said, "yes, she is. You must come at share of newly released federal highway funds will be about $7.5 million, Highway Director F. R. Oliver said today.

State Share to Be $7.5 Million

Coupled with $5.5 million federal money already available to Arkansas, the new money brings to $13 million that Arkansas can spend for highways if it has state matching money, he said.

Oliver said he could not determine if state funds will be available until the general assembly disposes of various bills which would divert state highway funds to other ends.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus today read a telegram from Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges announcing that the funds would

GRACE at MEAT

Bobby Burns calls us to thank God for food which He provides. The Jewish people use a beautiful grace, "We praise Thee, O God, who in kindness sustainest the world... Amen." They could well add their other prayer, "May our table be an altar of loving kindness, and our home a temple in which Thy spirit of goodness dwells." Many families use a poem, but more often this simple grace, — "Bless, O Lord, this food to our use, and us in Thy service; through Jesus Christ our Lord... Amen."

Every family would be blessed if they would say:

"Back of the loaf is the snowy flour, And back of the flour the mill, And back of the mill is the wheat and the shower, And the Sun and Thy Father's will."

But better than all learned prayers is our own, simply spoken directly to God.

Do you say Grace at Meat?
